

Welcome Back!

Dear Macharniks,

I'm very excited to welcome you all back to another year of Machar.

We had a summer filled with activities: Rabbi Nehama hosted a family-friendly event at Bounce U, and Kelly and David hosted a family pool party; Rabbi Nehama led us in discussion at a Tisha B'av observance, and we enjoyed the hospitality of our members at potluck Havdalah and Shabbat celebrations. Our lovely women of WITs continued gathering over the summer to share good food and life's journeys and our active and reinvigorated Young Adult Havurah hosted several events that were open to all young adults in the area.

Now, we have a great year ahead of us and a lot of things to look forward to:

Jewish Cultural School and Adult Education begin on September 14: I look forward to seeing all of you on September 14 as we begin our Adult Education and Jewish Cultural School programs. We'll be able to see friends, meet some new ones, and learn about all the wonderful things Machar has planned for the year and how you can be involved.

Machar's Book Club starts off with some compelling reading: Everyone is welcome to our Book Club gathering on September 21, when we will begin a series of discussions, facilitated by Michael Prival and Peter Wolfe, on Rabbi Sherwin Wine's fascinating book: *A Provocative People: A Secular History of the Jews.

Rabbi Nehama Benmosche will lead our High Holiday observances: Please join us on September 25 for Rosh Hashanah and October 3 and 4 for Kol Nidre and Yom Kippur. Rabbi Nehama's father, Mr. Robert Benmosche, who retires this month from his position as chief executive of the American International Group (A.I.G.) will be our speaker for Kol Nidre and Machar member Akiva Liberman will speak on Yom Kippur.

Be sure to join us on September 28 for our Adult Ed program with Michael Prival, followed by our Community Sunday Tashlikh observance and annual creek clean-up.

And we're just getting started!

It is all of this—all of you—that make Machar such a special and welcoming community. It's going to be a great year!

A note from the Rabbi: Rosh Hashanah Sermon sneak peak

It is hard to believe that the Hebrew month of Elul has begun and Rosh Hashanah is less than a month away. For those of you who may be interested in going a little deeper as we descend into the holiday season, I'd like to offer some extra reading. My sermon for Rosh Hashanah will be called: One of the Reasons We Keep Coming Back: Moral Psychology and Jonathan Haidt's Righteous Mind. My talk will be an attempt to explore why we choose to participate in the high holidays through the lens of moral psychology. I will draw from a book I read this summer called The Righteous Mind: Why Good People are Divided by Politics and Religion. Despite a decline in worldwide participation in organized religion, our community and many others will gather during the holidays and mark these days by choosing to affiliate and associate with like-minded members of our faith-based organizations. Haidt's perspective on religious groups drew me in and his writing is accessible and his research examples are entertaining. I thought some of you would be interested in putting another book on your bedside table this fall. Looking forward to continuing to build our relationships and to get to know all of you in this first year together!

Rosh Hashanah: Thursday, September 25

Children's service 9:30 a.m.; Main service 10:30 a.m.

Rosh Hashanah post-service discussion group topics:

- Is the world really worse now or do we just know more about it?
- What does spirituality mean to me?

Kol Nidre: Friday, October 3 at 7:30 p.m.

With a talk by Robert Benmosche

Yom Kippur: Saturday, October 4

Children's service 9:30 a.m.; Main service 10:30 a.m.

With a talk by Akiva Liberman

Attendance at High Holidays services is a privilege of membership. There is no need for members to register for services, but they can opt to register two nonmember relatives to attend free of charge. A registration link for this purpose is available on the home page of www.machar.org along with a link to our regular nonmember registration page.

Volunteer for Children's Services

Mimi Brody mbrody@humanesociety.org

Once again, we are seeking your help to make our Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur Children's Services a success. The Children's Services will run from 9:30 until about 10:15 am on Sept. 25 and Oct. 4, respectively. We'll need several children readers and will have acting roles—adult and children—for the play-lets we'll perform during each service

Please let me know if your children and/or you are interested in participating! Shofar-blowing also needed! First-come, first-served on filling the parts, though we will try to involve every child who'd like to participate. No memorization needed! I'll send scripts out to families in advance, so folks can be comfortable with what they'll be reading aloud. Thank you, and I look forward to hearing from you soon!

Adult Education and Community Sundays

Sundays 10:00 a.m.–12:30 p.m. Sessions are open to all. There is parking on 16th Street and in the back. All sessions are held in the Jewish Primary Day School, 6045 16th St. NW, DC 20012

Welcoming the New Year—Introductions and Overview

This first meeting of the year is an opportunity to meet new and old members and to hear about the various activities community membership offers. You are invited to bring along friends or family who are interested in finding out more about Machar.

Community Sunday: Music and Israeli Dancing

September 28

Michael Prival—The Ideas of Rabbi Sherwin T. Wine, Founder of Humanistic Judaism

Michael Prival, the first Madrikh (leader) of Machar, will again lead us in a discussion of Rabbi Sherwin T. Wine, who led our movement for four decades. Rabbi Sherwin Wine saw Humanistic Judaism as the logical next step in the development of Judaism. The purpose, for him, was to embody a positive philosophy based on the culture and history of the Jewish people. We will discuss some of his boldest ideas: believing is better than non-believing; ancient religious texts should be read for original intent rather than reinterpreted for modern life; and only a Judaism that its members actually believe in can survive.

Community Sunday: Short Tashlikh celebration led by Rabbi Nehama and Rock Creek cleanup

October 19

Jennie Guilfoyle—In the Absence of Immigration Reform

Ever since the 2012 election, we have heard that major immigration reform is just around the corner. Machar member and immigration attorney Jennie Guilfoyle will talk about what has been happening in the absence of Congressional action on immigration. What has the administration done? What has it not done? Which immigrants has the administration helped? Which has it not?

Community Sunday: Sukkot celebration

October 26

Rabbi Mindy Portnoy—Theodor Herzl: The Man and the Myth

An exploration of the personal and political life of Theodor Herzl, the founder of political Zionism; journalist, playwright, man of Budapest, Vienna, Paris; son, husband, and father. This lecture will be based on a variety of biographies which have been written about him, evoking a multitude of fascinating personas. Rabbi Mindy Avra Portnoy, Rabbi Emerita of Temple Sinai, is a graduate of Yale University, and was ordained by the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion. She has taught courses about Herzl and is the author of five Jewish children's books and many published sermons, blogs, and essays on a range of topics.

Community Sunday: Intergenerational Oral History Videos

November 16

Rabbi Nehama Benmosche—A Journey Through the Jewish Movements

Rabbi Nehama Benmosche, Machar's rabbi since April 2014, has lived in many parts of the Jewish world. She will help us understand the similarities and differences in these streams of Jewish life, using examples from her personal life, including schooling in Conservative Judaism, living in an Orthodox community in college, experiencing Judaism in Israeli culture, rabbinic training in the Reconstructionist movement, and now serving a Humanistic Jewish community.

Community Sunday: Global Day of Jewish Learning/Book sale

November 23

Bennett Muraskin—Humanist Readings in Jewish Folklore

Based on his book by the same name, Muraskin reveals the richness of Jewish folklore and its relevance to contemporary issues. He draws on stories from Talmud, Midrash, Hasidic and other sources that reflect values of mutual respect, equality, social justice and questioning authority, with plenty of humor too. Muraskin is the Adult Education Director for the Jewish Cultural School and Society in northern New Jersey, a part of the Congress of Secular Jewish Organizations. He has authored three books and is a columnist for Jewish Currents and Outlook (Canada) as well as a contributor to the Society for Humanistic Judaism's publication Humanistic Judaism.

Community Sunday: Community Service Activity—Soup and Trail Mix Assembly

December 7

Jocelyn Samuels—The Federal Role in Protecting Civil Rights: Opportunities and Limitations

The executive branch of the federal government enforces numerous laws to protect civil rights, including with regard to voting, police misconduct, equal educational and employment opportunity, and hate crimes. This program will discuss the government's work in these and other areas, addressing both advances in and obstacles to civil rights. Samuels is Director of the Office for Civil Rights at the Department of Health and Human Services. Previously, she was Acting Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights at the Department of Justice and has worked in the public interest community on civil rights issues. She is a former President of Machar.

Community Sunday: International Human Rights Fair

December 14

Hanukkah Party at Schweinhaut Senior Center, 1000 Forest Glen Rd., Silver Spring, 20901

Clubs and Activities

WITs

Renée Weitzner

In August, WITs met at the lovely home of Judith Wiesberg, where we enjoyed a lively discussion and terrific food which we shared. Thank you, Judith.

The wonderful women of Machar will meet on September 17, 2014 at 7 pm at the home of Eva Shankman. Please let me know by September 15 that you are coming and what you are bringing. That way our host will know our menu and our numbers.

WITs (Wimmin' in Transition) is open to all women members of Machar. Please see the Machar website for guidelines and policies about WITs. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

You may email me at rwcats at aol.com or reach me by phone.

Young Adult Havurah

Danielle Leff (non-members welcome)

Machar's Young Adult Havurah is for young adults and the young at heart. Join our listserve at groups.google.com/group/macharyah or join our group on Facebook at www.facebook.com/groups/macharyah to get the details and updates on YAH activities. YAH events are open to all regardless of membership status in Machar, and participants are encouraged to bring friends who may be curious about our movement.

Thursday, September 25 - Rosh Hashanah Lunch at Parkway Deli

Friday, October 3 - Kol Nidre dinner at a restaurant in Bethesda

Saturday, October 4 - Yom Kippur Break-fast meal

Monday, October 27, 7:00 pm - Matthew Klickstein, Slimed!: An Oral History of Nickelodeon's Golden Age

(Machar's Young Adult Havurah is co-sponsoring this event with the DC JCC's Jewish Literary Festival.)

Tickets: $12. Group discount available.

If you grew up in the golden age of Nickelodeon, you love the Rugrats, Clarissa Explains It All, The Adventures of Pete & Pete, and Saturday night SNICK marathons. Come hear Matthew Klickstein talk about his interviews with Nickelodeon insiders, including Melissa Joan Hart and Kenan Thompson, to uncover the origins of green slime, how Ren & Stimpy managed to get on the air, and much more. The event will be a discussion with the author, Q&A session, and 90's trivia game.

To find out more: contact [Leah@kaplansonline\[dot\]net](mailto:Leah@kaplansonline[dot]net) OR visit <http://washingtondcjcc.org/center-for-arts/literary/jewish-literary-festival/>

Book Club

Renée Weitzner and Darlene Basch

Peter Wolfe and Michael Prival will lead a discussion on A Provocative People: A Secular History of the Jews, by Rabbi Sherwin T. Wine, the founder and long-time leader of our Humanistic Judaism movement. For our September meeting, to be held on September 21, 2014, at the home of Michael Prival, we will be reading the first four chapters.

Evening Study Group

Michael Prival

The Machar Study Group on Jewish religious texts continues to meet every other Monday evening at my home. We are reading and discussing texts from the Bible, the Talmud, and other rabbinic sources. In this way we are learning not only about the Hebrew Bible but also many fascinating and surprising things about traditional Judaism as it existed before the Jewish Enlightenment began in the 18th century. All Machar members, at any level of prior knowledge, are invited to join us. If you'd like more information about this study group, please send me a note: mprival at aol.com.

Neighborhood Havurot

Donna Copeland, who joined Machar in 2013, is our new Neighborhood Havurot coordinator. Please contact her at [dc@grandmathegeek\[dot\]com](mailto:dc@grandmathegeek[dot]com) if you have ideas for social events and/or wish to host one.

On August 15, 25 people enjoyed a lovely Shabbat potluck hosted by Michal Freedman and Jack Schwartz. With perfect weather for the Family Pool Party and Potluck hosted by Kelly Hand and David Abramson on August 29, 26 people had a fun evening of swimming, eating, and socializing.

Attending these smaller-scale social events is a great way to get to know your fellow Machar members. Please try to make it to at least one this year! We have some potential hosts for the fall and will share details as soon as possible.

September 28th: Be a Part of the Machar Creek Clean-up!

Every fall for the past several years, dedicated and fun-loving Macharniks have beautified a Rock Creek tributary (beginning at Joyce Rd. and 16th St., across from JPDS) and kept large amounts of recyclables and trash out of Rock Creek.

After Sunday school and Adult Ed., and after a brief Tashlikh ceremony led by Rabbi Nehama, all able-bodied and enthusiastic volunteers of all ages are urged to join with us in this service to the local community.

Please wear long pants and long sleeves and sturdy shoes and bring a favorite pair of work gloves - if you have. I will provide gloves and bags and a lot of encouragement.

I hope that you can join us. Many hands will make light and enjoyable work!

—Barbara Francisco

Features

Right: At a Tisha B'Av observance led by Rabbi Nehama on August 4, a group of adults and teens lit candles in the shape of a peace sign to honor all who have died in the Israeli/Palestinian conflict.

Far above: 2014 b'nei mitzvah class students and their parents enjoyed volunteering together at DC Central Kitchen, where some shucked and cut hundreds of ears of corn while others schlepped food in and out of the freezer.

Above: Leah Kaplan helped to make August a great month for the Young Adult Havurah, hosting a "Shabbat and Takeout" event at her home on the 22nd and organizing a Machar table at the DCJCC's Schmoosze 'n' Schmear Brunch on the 24th.

Larry Lawrence, SHJ President and member of Machar, The Washington Congregation for Secular Humanistic Judaism, shares his views on promoting SHJ communities through social media during the New Year holiday and throughout the year.

Shalom!

We know that social media are overtaking print as the way to get the word out about gatherings and events, especially to folks under 40. But for many community leaders, social media look technical and hard to use. When advertising our New Years' services, our thoughts turn naturally to newspapers and the like. A newspaper ad for High Holiday services in 1995 was the way I first came in touch with Humanistic Judaism. (But 1995 was a generation ago!)

Recently, I've spoken to young adults at Machar who've reminded me of the importance of using social media to get out the word about High Holiday events. Last year, several newcomers learned of us informally via notices that young members posted about services. Why not try this for the new year! For example, someone in a Jewish "Meetup" group may write, "Join me for an unusual, moving secular Jewish New Year's service at ---- "

Do you find the idea of using Facebook, Twitter, Meetup or Google+ daunting? I do! Here are two suggestions:

1. Try it anyway - it may be easier than you think.
2. Ask a young adult in your community to help by putting up short notices on their favorite sites. It's flattering to be asked to do something to help your community that's easy for you. What may be a challenge for a 50-year old community leader may be less so for a 28-year old.

Here are tips from Leah Kaplan, who's active in Machar's Young Adult Havurah in Washington, DC. These would be easy to tailor for your community.

1. Use Facebook - an excellent way to inform non-members about Machar activities. Check out the Young Adult Havurah page:
<https://www.facebook.com/groups/macharyah/>

2. Make sure to regularly post events on Jewish websites that attract lots of viewers. Examples in DC are:
<http://www.gatherthejews.com/about/>
<http://www.jconnect.org/Events/AddAnEvent.aspx>
<http://washingtondcjcc.org/social-networks/entry-point-dc/>
3. See if you can co-host events with large local organizations. You can market each other's events on your email list serves and Facebook pages. The Machar Young Adult Havurah has already started to do this in cooperation with the DC JCC's young adult group:
<http://washingtondcjcc.org/social-networks/entry-point-dc/>

Other sites in addition to those mentioned are Twitter, Google+, and Meetup. Here are reviews of those sites and of Facebook:

<http://social-networking-websites-review.toptenreviews.com/facebook-review.html>
<http://social-networking-websites-review.toptenreviews.com/twitter-review.html>
<http://social-networking-websites-review.toptenreviews.com/google--review.html>
<http://social-networking-websites-review.toptenreviews.com/meetup-review.html>

YouTube is a great place to post short videos that are often widely viewed. See “SocietyForHJ” on YouTube (<https://www.youtube.com/user/societyforhj>).

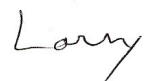

Also, take a look at SHJ’s Facebook page and Twitter account:

https://www.facebook.com/SocietyforHumanisticJudaism?ref=br_tf
<https://twitter.com/humanisticjews>

Remember: The most effective way to start someone on the path to joining you, whether at a service, event, or rally, is to ask them personally! The next best way is to ask them through a medium they trust. For millions of people, social media are the trusted path. There’s still time to try this for Rosh Hashana, or later on for the fall and winter holidays.

Feel free to send me questions or comments. I’m no expert, but I’ll try to get your questions answered.

L’Shana Tovah!

Mazel Tov!

Marlene Cohen and Michael Kidwell celebrated their 30th anniversary on September 2. They were married in Washington DC by Rabbi Harold White, at the time the one guy who would marry "interfaith" couples without needing conversion. He was a busy officiant!

We are excited to welcome our youngest Machar member, Owen, born to parents Jessica and Doug and big sister Emily on April 9.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Renee Weitzner.

Whaddaya Talkin'?

Marlene Cohen

Let's start the new year with a strong feeling: from deep in your Kishkes.

Literally we're talking anatomy here; it is your intestines, your guts. So it follows that a strong intuition, and very satisfying feeling, comes right from the kishkes.

In which Machar's newsletter will provide you with Your Monthly Word in Yiddish—Use it ten times this month and you won't forget it!

Talking Jewish says it's "the most profound emotion."

Of course kishke is also a very tasty dish, which you don't want to know is made by stuffing cow intestine. Enough said.

I wish you a Happy New Year, from deep in my kishkes.

Machar E-mail Lists for Members and Nonmembers

Michael Prival

There are two different e-mail lists that Machar members can join. The first, the "Machar" list, enables members to receive the monthly Newsletter, event reminders by email, plus announcements of program changes that may occur between printed newsletters. Almost all Machar members are already on this list.

The second list is "MacharCommunity." Members of this list can share information about local, non-Machar cultural, educational, social action, or community service events and activities. Any list member can post a note on the "Machar Community" list at any time.

If you would like to be added to either of these lists, or if we are not using your preferred e-mail addresses for them, please send a note to Email at machar.org. Of course you can get off these lists at any time.
